Judge Weddle remembered

Circuit Court
Judge dies days after announcing retirement

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

A Casey County native who devoted his life to his family, the law, and to the people of Casey County has died after an extended illness.

Casey Circuit Court Judge James G. Weddle died in the early morning hours April 11 at home surrounded by family members. He was 71.

Just a few days before, Weddle had announced that he was retiring May 1 from the 29th Judicial Circuit which included Casey and Adair counties.

Weddle was serving his second eight-year term, having first been elected in 1998.

Prior to serving as a circuit judge, Weddle became an attorney in 1966 after graduating from the University of Kentucky School of Law. He served as Casey County Attorney for 16 years and also in private practice.

Fellow judges and attorneys had nothing but high praise for Weddle and a legal career that spanned more than 45 years.

"I have known Judge Weddle for many years and he was distinguished by his dedication to his work. No other judge I know anywhere worked harder with a completeness and constancy of his work," said Chief Justice John Minton of the Kentucky Supreme Court.

Casey and Adair County Commonwealth's Attorney Brian Wright prosecuted many cases before Weddle.

"I had a lot of respect for Judge Weddle, especially for his legal mind. He devoted his life to the legal profession," Wright said.

Also, Weddle was known for his vast knowledge of legal cases and his ability to cite cases without ever pulling a law book off the shelf.

"He read books, books, and books and articles on the Internet. He didn't golf or hunt or fish. His life was the law," Wright said.

Still, Weddle was known for being a fair judge who had an open mind.

"It was never his way or the highway when it came to the law," said Janelle "Tootsie" Roberts, who served as Weddle's secretary for 22 years.

Wright said that in one particular case he was trying before Weddle, he was able to show the judge a prior case that changed the way he thought about it.

"He was always open to something new," Wright said.

Roberts said that in addition to loving the law,

Gov. Beshear presents $1 million check to county

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

Even with a contentious special-called legislative session ongoing in Frankfort, Gov. Steve Beshear took time to travel to Liberty on Tuesday to preach a message of bi-partisanship and to present a check to honor that local bi-partisan spirit.

"Good things don't happen unless good people get together. This community of Liberty and Casey County have proven time and time again that you're willing to come together and make things happen for yourselves," Beshear said. "And I like to help people who help themselves."

While the governor praised Liberty and Casey County residents for working together, he also wanted to show his willingness to support that community spirit by presenting a check to Casey County Fiscal Court for $1 million.

The funds are to be administered as a loan to Bluegrass Shavings through the Liberty/Casey County Economic Development Authority.

The EDA will purchase several pieces of equipment and then lease the equipment to Bluegrass Shavings.

Bluegrass Shavings was started in April 2009 on the old Marvin Vaught property on Ky. 70 East by Jerry Hoskins, along with his sons, Clay and Todd, and his son-in-law, Darin Cundiff.

The business produces wood shavings that are primarily used as bedding in horse stalls and also on poultry and cattle farms.

Since opening, the company has endured two devastating losses — the first on July 9, 2009 when fire destroyed a building and a second, larger fire on Oct. 21, 2010.

In the 2010 fire, Clay Hoskins said the building where the shavings were produced and bagged was a total loss. The fire also destroyed a trailer that was backed up to the building.

"We lost two of the wood-shaving machines, all our tools, and our welding equipment," Hoskins said.

Hoskins asked the EDA for the loan that would replace damaged equipment last year and the city and county worked together with the Department of Local Government in Frankfort to make it a reality.

However, even without the loan, Bluegrass Shavings re-opened last year and continued to operate with about 14 employees.

County budget up 5.1 percent

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

Casey County's proposed budget for the 2012-13 fiscal year is up 5.1 percent mainly due to an increase in the jail and road budgets.

Magistrates, given a copy of the new budget at the court's April 16 meeting, will study the budget and make changes, if necessary, and then adopt it in the May meeting.

"This is a proposed budget — but I feel pretty confident that it's close," Wright said, noting that the $7.8 million budget is pretty close to last year's $7.5 million budget.

As in years past, the general fund and the jail fund make up the lions' share of the budget.

The general fund is just over $2 million, down about $82,000 from FY12's budget.

The Casey County Detention Center will receive a large increase in the new budget year.

For FY13, the jail fund has been allocated just over $3.7 million, up about $234,000 from last year, with a projected carryover of $700,000.

County Treasurer Debbie Vaughn said the jail budget, as is the case nearly every year, is contingent upon the number of Class D felons housed at the detention center.

Of the remaining $2 million for the proposed FY13 budget, $1.6 million is allocated for the road fund; $290,250 for E-911; $97,600, LGFA; and $53,000, state grants.

The Central Kentucky AG/EXPO Center — despite the extra income from the enclosing of the large arena — will lose $57,500, according to the FY13 budget.

The center's estimated rental income, at $78,500, is projected to be

East Casey challenges water rate increase

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

The East Casey County Water District has notified the Public Service Commission in Frankfort that it is challenging a proposed water rate increase from the City of Liberty.

At the April 10 ECCWD Board meeting, members wasted little time in deciding to ask for a clarification on the rate increase.

At issue with board members was the PSC letter addressed to the ECCWD notifying them of the city's rate increase.

"The city of Liberty has proposed to increase its wholesale water service rate to East Casey County Water District from $2.38 per 1,000 gallons to $2.74 per 1,000 gallons effective April 12, 2012," the letter stated. The 36 cents represents a 15 percent increase.

When Liberty Mayor Steve Sweeney appeared before the board on March 13 to ask for a rate increase, he specified a 12 percent increase or 27 cents per 1,000 gallons of water, which would have raised the rate from $2.38 to $2.65 per 1,000 gallons.

However, the current increase before the PSC is for 9 cents more than what the mayor had originally asked the ECCWD board.

And at least one board member didn't like it, questioning why they hadn't heard from the mayor about the two different prices.

"He asked for 27 cents and the PSC letter says 36 cents," said ECCWD Board Chairman Ricky Carman.

"It looks like he's playing a shell game with us," said member John McQueary.

"And it does, but I don't know if it was intentional or if it was a misquote. I'm thinking it was a honest mistake," said ECCWD Assistant Manager Eddie Wesley.

Sweeney said it was not his decision to raise the rate increase from 27 to 36 cents.

"I didn't play a shell game. I thought the council would go with this (the 27 cent increase) but they chose to do it differently," Sweeney said, referring to the council approving the 36 cent increase.

Carman raised another issue — what city residents and county residents pay for water.

City residents don't pay as much as county residents. Their people ought to pay the same price as county people," Carman said.

With the April 1 increase of 15 percent on water rates for city residents, the base bill increased from $11.42 to $12.97 for 2,000 gallons.

ECCWD customers pay $16.77 for the same amount of water, said ECCWD Manager Andy Greynolds.

If the rate increase is passed along to ECCWD customers, it would add about $2 a month to the average customer who uses about 3,500 gallons of water monthly, Greynolds said.

PSC challenge

Now that a written protest has been filed in Frankfort, the PSC will consider the merits of the increase.

"When a protest letter is received, the PSC will typically suspend the rate increase for 5 months and open an investigation into the reasonableness of the new rate," according to a rate increase notification from the PSC.

Further, the PSC can take up to 10 months to issue its decision.

According to PSC Public Spokesman Andrew Melnykovch, the city will have to justify the rate increase.

Vandalism costs us all

It's been brought to our attention that of late, several senseless and needless acts of vandalism have occurred in the county.

School officials arrived at Walnut Hill Elementary School recently to find that someone had shot the backboard of a basketball goal with what appeared to be a shotgun.

Random acts like this cause the school to have to spend several hundred dollars from its budget that's already been squeezed tight with rising costs and declining budget monies from the state.

In addition, school maintenance personnel have to spend their time ordering and installing the new goal once it arrives.

Not only do vandals hit the schools, they also seem to favor the restrooms at Gateway Park and at the Central Kentucky AG/EXPO Center.

Just this past week, with a spring and summer schedule of baseball and softball games looming, vandals went into the restrooms at Gateway Park and left the water running in a sink. They also tore toilet paper dispensers from the walls, but not before spreading toilet paper around like confetti.

Last year, the ag center was hit hard with sinks being broken and other acts of vandalism.

Let's all remember that these are places where our families play and have a good time.

When a restroom is not available, it costs everyone, especially taxpayers who must pay to repair the damage.

Obituary for Otis

Today we are mourning the passing of a fine old gentleman who lived his whole life in Middleburg. He was much loved by most of the residents of that fair village and was considered to be a fine neighbor. His name was Otis.

Otis, who had no last name, is survived by his owner, Clay Ellison, and a host of Middleburg friends. It is unknown if he had any children. He was preceded in death by his constant companion of many years, Maggie.

Three years ago I wrote a column about Maggie and Otis, the two old dogs who were seen all over Middleburg. They appeared at certain places for handouts every day, especially the homes of Paul and Judy Meeks and DiAnne McInnis. DiAnne and her mother had been Maggie's caretakers over the years.

Otis was a cute old gentleman who never seemed to age much except for the gray in his muzzle and an increasingly slower step. He looked like a combination of a Bassett hound and a pit bull but only God knows what his lineage was. Whatever it was, the genes got together to produce the sweetest-tempered dog in the world and one of the friendliest.

Most of the people in Middleburg kept an eye out for Otis and Maggie but were especially solicitous of him after her death. Some say he was very lonesome after that and seemed to search for her. He finally found a walking companion in Elle McInnis, DiAnne's Yorkie, and they walked together every day for the last two years.

Joberta WELLS
Columnist

This summer the hot dogs and hamburgers, potato salad, or other morsels of food that are accidentally dropped on the ground at Bible School or cookouts will have to be picked up by the person dropping them because Otis won't be there to clean up. Drivers can resume speeding through Middleburg because they won't have to be on the alert for Otis crossing the street. Neighbors won't have to worry if they don't see him like they did when he sometimes missed his appointed rounds.

I think it is amazing that one little dog could engender so much love and concern in so many people. The tellers at Farmers Deposit Bank always knew how Otis was doing and could tell you of his activities if you asked. Week before last I was at the bank in Middleburg and the window teller told me Otis was sick. He had been having seizures and he didn't seem to know where he was. The bank employees contacted one of his caretakers who came and put him in the house so he wouldn't be hit by a car.

It was a sad day last week when one of Otis's friends called me to report his passing. I can only hope that he and Maggie have been reunited and are walking together in the sunshine with other old friends around them.

Rest in peace, Otis. You will be missed.

Grateful for funeral home food

In my column last week about eating in the county's country stores, I didn't consider there were other places that I'd eaten in the county where the food and fellowship were just as good.

Boyd Brown at McKinney-Brown Funeral Home called on Wednesday and reminded me there has been some mighty fine victuals served up in the funeral home.

To further bolster his case, Boyd invited the news office staff to partake of goulash and cornbread that same day.

Although I've eaten other meals there, I have to say that it was mighty fine goulash and had Boyd not chosen to be a funeral home director, he definitely could have been a chef.

Also, the crowd that gathers for these funeral parlor foodfests is always full of

Larry ROWELL
Staff Writer

the steer that they've been eating. A good time is always had by all.

When I go in funeral parlors, I cannot help but think about what a comfort they are.

Now, I have officiated at and even attended many funerals in my life and I have never regretted going into a funeral parlor.

They are places of comfort and solace where grieving family members and friends gather to honor and remember their loved ones.

And I'll have to say, I've never really met a funeral parlor director that I didn't like. Most are an amiable sort who love their jobs and do it well.

However, let me qualify that these nice directors are the ones who own the parlors. I've had some not so good experiences with directors of parlors bought up by the large corporations where it's not a personal encounter, it's a financial transaction.

Funerals are expensive and I believe that a director who owns his parlor offers more individualized services and is more interested in doing a good job.

After all, he or she is counting on repeat family business and it only takes one bad experience to lose a family. That's why I believe most family owned parlors offer dignified, comforting, and first-class service.

Another thing I like about funeral homes is the stories that come from funerals.

A parlor director once told me that he did a funeral where the deceased was a veteran.

The director asked a funeral squad from another city to come and do the military honors as a part of the regular service.

Not only was the funeral squad late, a couple of these old boys had a snoot or two sometime prior to the funeral and were feeling no pain.

It seems that one of these half-inebriated men couldn't get his rifle to fire and after the 21-gun salute, he bent over his rifle and said to no one in particular, "This blankety-blank thing won't fire!"

Thankfully, the bereaved family didn't hear him but the director did.

I'm grateful for funeral homes and yes, Boyd, I'm especially thankful for those fine meals and fellowship.

There is hope for bad boys and bad girls

Last week was a bad week for bad boys.

First, 51-year-old Bobby Petrino, at the height of his career, got himself fired as the University of Arkansas football coach for allegedly trying to deceive the University's Athletic Director about the coach's relationship with the 25-year-old football employee and former volleyball player, Jessica Dorrell.

Then 11 Secret Service agents were placed on administrative leave for allegedly being involved with prostitutes in Cartagena, Columbia, while preparing for President Obama's visit.

Petrino, the father of four, was one of the top coaches in college football. It took years of successful steps before he could stand in that exclusive realm.

And those secret service agents worked long and hard to gain their honored positions in the Secret Service, an elite group whose job it is to protect the president and other high ranking officials.

Now, the University of Arkansas is embarrassed by

David B. WHITLOCK
Guest Columnist

Petrino's actions, just as the Secret Service is by those agents.

Why would these men take such a risk?

There's a scene in the movie, "The Help," where concerned friends are trying to set up Skeeter Phelan (Emma Stone) with a man. The two are making conversation at a restaurant, waiting for their double-date partners to arrive, and already, Skeeter's date is half-drunk and making rude comments. Skeeter, the unsouthern southern girl, wastes no time in telling him what she thinks about him. As she stands up to walk away, she asks, "I'm sorry, but were you dropped on your head as an infant?"

Maybe someone should ask Petrino and the Secret Service agents the same question.

More pointedly, why do men do such incredibly stupid things? After all, Petrino and the 11 men in the Secret Service are only the last in a long line of men who have done stupid things: Tiger Woods, Rick Pitino, Arnold Schwarzenegger, and John Edwards are only a starter list for a huge catalog of names that stretches across history.

It can be traced all the way back to the original stupid guy: Adam.

From the time Adam took the forbidden fruit from Eve, men have been trying to please women.

The problem is, men seem to get confused about which woman to please. Thus, tempted by the fruit of another, men mistakenly imagine the new fruit is different and therefore better than what they already have.

And one bad decision leads to another.

But, where Adam started it, Jesus stopped it, or at least he gave us reason to hope we could. And he understood that we've all done things we've later regretted.

He stood up for one who was about to be stoned to death for getting involved in one of those stupid things. Two people were caught in the very act of adultery; it was only the woman who was dragged before the moral majority. That's when Jesus intervened: "Let the one who has never sinned throw the first stone" (John 8:7).

One by one those arrogant men lowered their heads, dropped their stones, and walked away.

The only one without sin that day turned to the woman and refused to condemn her. Then he left her with a command: "Go and sin no more," he admonished.

That's the seemingly impossible challenge: stop doing stupid things.

But, he who issued the command gives us himself, and in him, we discover the possibility of fulfilling it.

That should give hope to all of us: bad boys and bad girls.

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month

By Larry Rowell
Staff Writer

Each day an average of four children die as a result of mistreatment. In the same 24-hour period, thousands more children suffer from abuse or neglect.

And agencies that deal with child abuse and neglect are using the month of April to raise public awareness of this not overly discussed topic.

In Casey County in 2011, there were 215 reported cases of child abuse or neglect that involved 232 children, according to Kathy Hare, Family Services Office Supervisor at the local Protection and Permanency Office.

In the 18-county region that comprises the Cumberland, of which Casey County is a part, there were 11,717 cases reported in 2011 that involved 12,810 children.

Of those 18 counties, Casey ranks fourth in the lowest number of reported cases, with Cumberland County reporting the fewest cases at six, and Laurel County having the highest number of cases at 5,337.

Hare's office investigates allegations of child abuse and neglect.

"We don't have as many abuse cases as we do neglect cases with children," Hare said.

Neglect cases involve inappropriate clothing, inadequate food and shelter and animals in houses. Neglect can also include failing to take a child to the doctor or to school.

"There aren't many 'dirty house' referrals because it's difficult to determine when

that causes neglect," Hare said.

But things like animal feces and exposed wiring bring cause for concern.

These cases are often reported by teachers, day care providers, ministers and on occasion, family members, Hare said.

The cases of abuse she does see are the most common types —bruises and finger marks on a child's skin.

"A child can also be socially isolated from their peers," she said, indicating another result of abuse.

Hare said that in her experience, when there's a downturn in the economy, then there's a corresponding rise in the cases of child abuse.

"The fact that so many are in a poverty stricken area puts children at risk," Hare said, adding because of this,

Casey County has been designated as part of an at risk area since 1951.

When Hare's office receives a complaint, it's investigated as quickly as possible.

Hare said they try to work with the family to introduce intervention measures to correct the problem hopefully within 36 to 72 hours.

Hare's office may also make referrals to sister agencies for food or clothing. If intervention doesn't work, then a petition is filed in District Court where the judge might exercise other options before removing the child from the home, Hare said.

Training and prevention

Hare said her office offers family preservation services to families in need. These services include going into the home five to 15 hours a week and addressing subjects such as budgeting, cleaning, caring for the home, and nurturing children, among others.

Additionally, Hare said that her office collaborates with other agencies such as the Casey Health Department, Extension Service, ASAP (Agency for Substance Abuse Policy) Board to form a team approach in training and prevention.

One such collaboration occurred on Friday at the Casey County Headstart program in Liberty.

Debra Meece, family advocate at Headstart, sponsored a child abuse prevention program for 12 parents on April 6 at the school.

"I try to have a parent meeting on a different subject every month," Meece said, adding there are 40 children in the county-wide program.

Parent Teresa Lemons said that she uses different methods to discipline her children.

"There's time out and then I make them write papers in notebooks saying 'I will not talk back,'" said the mother of five children ranging in ages from nine to 25.

Fermin and Jessica Dominguez said that they spank their young daughter with "a tap" but never in anger.

To report child abuse, call The Protection and Permanency office at 787-8369 or the Casey County Attorney's Office at 787-7100.

Abuse can be reported at any time by calling the state's child abuse toll-free hotline at (800) 752-6200.

Mammography machine installed

Casey County Hospital District Board members learned April 10 that the long-awaited mammography machine has been installed and will be functional once the calibration of the machine and personnel training is completed, which Casey County Hospital Assistant Administrator Cindy Meyer said should be within a few weeks.

CCH CEO Rusty Tungate said that this new medical device will be a great complement to the new CT Scanner.

In other business, the board:

■ Heard Chief Financial Officer Ralph Morgan review income statements for January 2012.

The reports show the district, which includes the hospital, Casey County Primary Care and Casey Family Practice, had a net income of $605,993. The district's total fund balance now stands at $5.7 million.

■ Wrote off $21,665.30 in charity and bad debts at the hospital.

Frank and Patty VanDorsten visited their son, Jason VanDorsten and his family in Sterling, Va. While there they visited the Baltimore Zoo along with their grandchildren, Sam (baby), Caleb and Beth.

Apple Festival to get commemorative postal cancellation

Contest under way for design

By Joberta Wells
Staff Writer

In honor of the Casey County Apple Festival being chosen as Kentucky Living Magazine's "Best Festival in Kentucky" for the second time, the Liberty Post Office is issuing a special commemorative postmark/stamp cancellation that will be used the Saturday of the Apple Festival (Sept. 22).

The Apple Festival Committee is holding a competition to determine the best design for the postmark. The competition is open to all Casey County residents.

The design must include "Casey County Apple Festival" and "Best Festival in Kentucky 2012." The dimensions of the design must be a maximum of four inches in width and 1 1/4 inches in height or smaller.

Entries may be submitted by e-mail in PDF format to news@caseynews.net or they may be taken to The Casey County News office. The deadline for the competition is May 4.

The winner will receive an Apple Festival t-shirt and a plaque.

The post office will have a booth in front of City Hall on Sept. 22 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. where stamped envelopes and postcards that can be postmarked with the special cancellation will be on sale.

Stamped envelopes are 56 cents and stamped post cards are 35 cents. Those wishing to bring their own stamped envelopes or postcards may do so.

Will your children inherit your obligations?

Dear Savvy Senior

What happens to a person's debt after they die? At age 78, I have accumulated quite a bit of credit card and medical debt over the past few years and am concerned about leaving my son and daughter with a big bill after I die. What can you tell me?

Dear Reader,

In most cases when a person with debt dies, it's their estate, not their kids that's legally responsible. Here's how it works.

When you die, your estate – which consists of the stuff you own while you're alive (home, car, cash, etc.) – will be responsible for paying your debts. Whatever is left over is passed along to your heirs as dictated by the terms of your will, if you have one. If you don't have a will, the intestacy laws of the state you reside in (see mystatewill.com) will determine how the estate will be distributed.

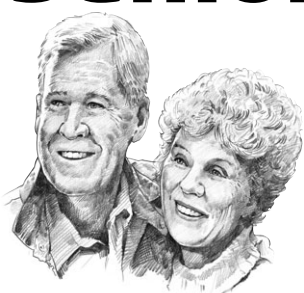

If, however, you die broke, or there isn't enough money left over to pay your unsecured debts – credit cards, medical bills, personal loans – then your estate is declared insolvent, and your creditors (those you owe) will have to eat the loss.

There are, however, a couple of exceptions that would make your kids legally responsible for your unsecured debt after you pass away: if your son or daughter is a joint holder on a credit card account that you owe on, or if they co-signed on a loan with you.

Secured debts – loans attached to an asset such as a house or a car – are another story. If you have a mortgage or car loan when you die, those monthly payments will need to be made by your estate or heirs, or the lender can seize the property.

Untouchable Assets

You also need to be aware that there are some assets, such as 401(k) and 403(b) accounts, brokerage accounts, and some life insurance policies that creditors cannot get access to. That's because these accounts typically have designated beneficiaries, and the money goes directly to those people without passing through the estate.

Tell Your Kids

If you haven't already done so, you need to inform your kids and the executor of your will of your financial situation so there are no surprises after you die.

If you do indeed die with debt, and you have no assets, settling your estate should be fairly simple. Your executor will need to send out letters to your creditors explaining the situation, including a copy of your death certificate, and that will probably take care of it. But, your kids may still have to deal with aggressive debt collectors who try to guilt them into paying.

If you have some assets, but not enough to pay all your debts, your state's probate court has a distinct list of what bills get priority. The details vary by state, but generally estate administering fees, funeral expenses, taxes and last illness medical bills get paid first, followed by secured debts and lastly credit card debts.

Get Help

If you have questions regarding your specific situation, you should consult with an attorney. Beshear said that the CDBG loan will mean 50 new jobs for Casey County.

"That 50 represents 50 Kentucky families that will be able to lay their heads down at night with a lot more confidence that they're going to be able to support their families, with a roof over their heads and food on the table, and clothes on their backs," Beshear said. "I'm happy that state government could play a part in the recovery of this company."

Hoskins said that since the 2010 fire, the business has done what it could to stay afloat. But now, with the loan in place, the recovery will be complete.

"This loan will help us to install some key pieces of equipment that will enable us to open up new jobs and to open up the possibility of additional products as well," Hoskins said.

Bluegrass Shavings will repay the $1 million Community Development Block Grant much like two other block grants have been administered in the county with Liberty Tank and Chieftain Steel.

Gov. Steve Beshear was at Liberty City Hall on Tuesday to present a $1 million check to the Casey County Fiscal Court in the form of a Community Development Block Grant. The funds will serve as an expansion loan to Bluegrass Shavings and will be administered through the Liberty/Casey County Economic Development Authority. From left are Tony Wilder, Director of the Department of Local Government in Frankfort, Rep. Terry Mills, D-Lebanon, Casey County Judge/Executive Ronald Wright, Gov. Beshear, Bluegrass Shavings Co-Owner Clay Hoskins, and Liberty Mayor Steve Sweeney.

This is the second large check that Beshear has presented to Casey County within the past year.

In May, first lady Jane Beshear came to Liberty to present a $950,000 check that is being used to fund the bulk of a new, 500,000-gallon water storage tank for the city of Liberty.

Gov. Beshear also mentioned the current $4.3 million Ky. 1649 Dry Ridge Hill road project that the state is funding.

Fiscal court considers synthetic pot law

ADAIR COUNTY — Adair County Fiscal Court gave first reading to an ordinance that would effectively make the sale and/or possession of synthetic marijuana in the county a misdemeanor offense.

Synthetic cannabinoid products, normally sold as incense or potpourri, have become a problem in this part of the state with people having severe medical reactions to the products when used as a drug.

Although not currently being sold in Adair County, Judge Executive Ann Melton and Sheriff Harrison Moss urged the court to pass the ordinance to prevent future sales of the product.

Under the ordinance, a person caught in possession of materials containing any number of cannabinoids can be charged with a Class B misdemeanor punishable by a fine under $250 and up to 90 days in jail.

However, a person caught selling the products could face up to $500 and a year in jail as a Class A misdemeanor.

Since the state doesn't have a law prohibiting the sale or possession of cannabinoids, should the state adopt a measure, it would take precedence over the county ordinance.

Man accused of scamming

BOYLE COUNTY — Jeffrey Adams, 26, of Junction City, is in custody for allegedly scamming more than a dozen people, mostly senior citizens, in Boyle and surrounding counties.

He is accused of taking thousands of dollars from residents with promises that he would do work he never did.

Boyle County Deputy Sheriff Dustin Clem and Kentucky State Police troopers caught up with Adams in Lincoln County where he was facing unrelated charges. They served a warrant for several counts of theft by deception.

Adams allegedly contacted potential customers and promised to perform jobs such as tree removal or yard work. He asked for half the amount that it would take to do the work up front, which was typically $200, then never returned to do the work.

He allegedly told people he wasn't able to perform the job at that time because he had sick family members.

Clem said Adams would fill out a form similar to an invoice and give it to the victims with the amount charged to the resident written on it, but he usually did not include the work he intended to do.

One of two victims who came forward was able to get in writing the work Adams said he would do and failed to complete, which allowed Clem to obtain a warrant.

Clem said Adams probably had taken more than $3,000 from Boyle County residents alone over the past six months and more reports were trickling in.

There were outstanding warrants for Adams' arrest for doing the same thing to people in Anderson and Lincoln counties and state police are also working similar cases.

Post Office needs help

LINCOLN COUNTY — The Stanford Post Office is asking for help from the residents of Stanford who own dogs. They have reported an alarming spike in dog bites to letter carriers delivering the mail. The Post Office stated that these incidents have cause pain, suffering, and lost work days for postal employees.

Susan Williams, Postmaster at Stanford, asked citizens to keep their dogs from running loose. She requested that dog owners in the Stanford community keep their animals restrained or inside during times when the letter carrier is delivering mail. She also asked that when the letter carrier arrived at the house, he should be allowed to put the mail in the mailbox rather than the homeowner opening the door to take the mail and inadvertently allowing the dog outside.

Bar accused of discriminating against African-Americans

MARION COUNTY — Desmond Spalding was planning a night out on the town with his wife and some of their friends, but he got a surprise when he arrived at Susie's Bottoms Up in Raywick.

After he got out of his car, people started telling him to turn around because Susie's wasn't letting black people in that night. He assumed they were joking until he got to the door. Spalding said the bouncer told him then that no black people could come in that night.

Spalding had driven some of his friends to the bar, and he wasn't about to leave. Instead, he called his wife, Dawn Spalding, who is an attorney. She had been planning to join her husband and their friends later but decided to go to the bar when she received the call from her husband.

When Dawn Spalding arrived, she confronted the bouncer, who referred her to the owner, Susie Riggie. She, by her own admission, said she screamed at Riggie for about 15 minutes and said she was outraged by the circumstances.

Spalding said she is not aware of any criminal statutes that would apply in this situation, but she contacted the Kentucky Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control to file a complaint against Susie's Bottoms Up. She said she intended to close the doors of the bar and that she hoped they don't ever get to open again.

Chapter 344.140 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes reads that it is unlawful to promote that the goods or services or patronage at a place of public accommodation will be denied to an individual on the basis of disability, race, color, religion, or national origin. The statute includes written, printed, oral or visual communication, notice or advertisements.

Arrest warrant issued for father

PULASKI COUNTY — An arrest warrant was issued by Pulaski District Court for the arrest of William H. Pilkington, 38, who allegedly failed to return his three children to their mother from a court-ordered spring break visit.

A missing persons report on the three children — Lily Pilkington, 5; Trey Pilkington, 12; and Bekkah Pilkington, 13 — was filed by the children's mother.

Pilkington picked up the children on March 30 from the children's mother in compliance with a court-mandated visitation schedule. They were slated to be returned to her on April 9. The four did not return and their whereabouts was unknown.

Lt. Shannon Smith with the Somerset Police Department said relatives' efforts to reach William Pilkington had been unsuccessful. Family members had contacted the local county attorney's office earlier and that office contacted state police in the Adair/Metcalf counties area where Pilkington lives. Authorities were unable to make contact with William Pilkington or the children at his home.

Information about Lily, Trey and Bekkah was filed with the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) when the missing persons report was filed by the mother.

Smith said they do not believe that the children are in danger. They were lawfully in William Pilkington's custody they last time they were seen by their mother, which defines the incident as a custodial issue rather than a kidnapping.

Dog warden resignation announced

RUSSELL COUNTY — Russell County Judge-Executive Gary Robertson announced the resignation of Dog Warden Roger Powell after a 45-minute executive session of the Russell County fiscal court. Robertson said that there were reprimands in place and Powell was given the opportunity either to resign or be dismissed. The basis for the reprimands was that Powell was not fulfilling the duties of the dog warden.

Powell was also a county employee at the recycling center but he resigned from that position as well.

The fiscal court expects to advertise for a full-time dog warden. The salary will be $9 per hour with full benefits. Part-time recycling center employee Tommy Conover was appointed by the fiscal court to be dog warden on an interim basis until the position is filled.

125 new jobs coming to Intelenet

TAYLOR COUNTY — Gov. Steve Beshear announced that Intelenet Global Services, which is now owned by Serco, will add 125 jobs to its Campbellsville facility.

Team Taylor County Executive Director Ron McMahan said the announcement is the culmination of more than 10 months of work. He said the expansion is the result of a new client, though the contract does not permit disclosure of the client's identity. McMahan said they were competing with several other states for the project and the selection was attributed to the excellent customer service Intelenet employees have provided over the years.

A small number of home agent positions will be available for employees who would have an unreasonable distance to commute to Campbellsville, according to a news release.

Serco, a travel and hospitality company based in the UK, bought Intelenet Global Services in May 2011 to partner global travel with hospitality services for worldwide clientele. It offers operational, management and consulting expertise in numerous sectors, including aviation, business process outsourcing, defense, education, government, commercial and communications technology.

Campbellsville Mayor Tony Young and Taylor County Judge-Executive Eddie Rogers both stated in a press release that the announcement is an economic boost to the community.

Be sweet to your feet if you have diabetes

Taking care of your feet is very important for people with diabetes. Good foot care helps reduce your risk for serious foot problems that can lead to amputations. To decrease your risk of foot problems, learn to manage the ABCs of diabetes. This means keeping your blood glucose (as measured by the A1C test), blood pressure, and cholesterol in the target range recommended by your health care provider.

Be sweet to your feet by following these foot care tips:

- Check your feet every day (evening is best) for cuts, blisters, red spots, swelling, and sore toenails. If you have trouble bending over to see your feet, use a plastic mirror or ask a family member or caregiver to help.

- Wash your feet every day in warm water, and be sure to dry well between the toes.

- Rub a thin coat of skin lotion on the tops and bottoms of your feet, but not between your toes.

- Trim your toenails carefully and straight across when needed. See your podiatrist if you need help.

- Never walk barefoot, and wear comfortable shoes that fit well and protect your feet.

- Nerve damage can cause loss of feeling. Look and feel inside your shoes before putting them on.

- Keep the blood flowing to your feet by wiggling your toes and moving your ankles up and down for five minutes, two or three times a day.

- Plan a physical activity program with your health care team.

- Take your shoes and socks off at every check up and have your doctor look at your feet. Tell your health care team right away about any foot problems.

■ Let your doctor know right away if you have loss of feeling in your feet, changes in the shape of your foot or foot ulcers or sores that do not heal.

For more information about diabetes, contact your local health department and ask to speak to the diabetes educator or call 1-800-928-4416. You may also visit our website, www.lcdhd.org or become a fan of Lake Cumberland District Health Department on Facebook.

I'm Alive...

Kentucky Circuit Court Clerks'

because someone like YOU joined the Kentucky Organ Donor Registry

At 3 months old, Levi's parents were told he would not live without a life-saving organ transplant. He's alive because someone like you said "yes" to organ donation. Now, Levi is a happy 3-year-old. He loves to run, jump and swim.

Please give $1.00 to promote organ donation when you renew your driver's license.

Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

Heavy rainfall brought heavy damage to the area. Tobacco beds were washed out and farmers were three weeks behind schedule on spring preparations. Weatherman Fitch Foster reported 6.75 inches of rainfall for the first 14 days of the month.

Greer Brothers and Young opened a new stone quarry on the Pulaski County side of Green River Knob. The company leased 124 acres of land from the farm of Chester Delk.

Ronald Weddle, a third year medical student at the University of Kentucky College of Medicine, was appointed by President Otis A. Singletary to the newly formed University Commission on Institutional Planning.

John Shugars said he could furnish enough blackberry plants for 50 acres and they were free. They came from the University Experimental Farm at Princeton. Farmers were being encouraged to raise the berries to supply blackberry processing plants.

The Middleburg and Garrett schools were broken into. Sheriff Ray Overstreet brought in two juvenile boys for questioning. Judge Garfield Griffin ordered both to jail.

The Kiwanis Club was seeking used playground equipment that could be refurbished to use at the Day Care Center.

Merl Toms said this was the worst spring for fisherman that he had seen in his 24 years as a conservation officer. He predicted there would be some of the best ever fishing on creeks once the water went down.

"Count Yorga, Vampire," "The Lady in the Car," and "Bless the Beasts and Children" were playing at the Kentuckian.

A gallon of Swiss Maid milk was $1.09; three dozen large eggs were $1; and giant size Bonus soap powder was 79 cents at Frederick & Godbey in Yosemite.

The City of Liberty considered offering a reward of $100 for information leading to arrest and conviction of persons who damaged parking meters.

A building and grounds engineer for the State Department of Education looked over the five sites recommended for the new county school building. His report was expected later.

A deciduous magnolia tree was planted on the grounds of the Liberty school in memory of Mrs. Lela Russell, who taught eighth grade at Liberty for many years.

The director of the Division of Arts and Crafts was meeting with county residents through efforts of the Department of Economic Development. The purpose was to find locals products made by hand for which a market could be developed.

Fred's Finest
Whittle Club gets free amusement

Originally published in the April 6, 1972 edition of The Casey County News

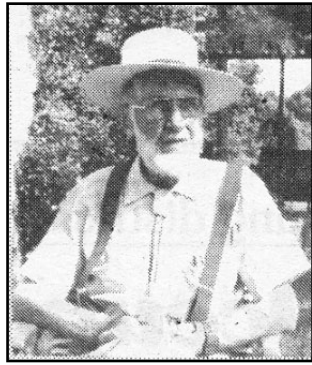

Most of the members of the Whittle Club were inside the courthouse trying to stay warm Tuesday morning where they can watch the main events of the day.

They were rewarded when two young women had a five minute fist fight out in the main hallway.

None of the county officers except Mrs. Nina Russell was present and the fight lasted longer than it would have under different circumstances.

Just how it started is still something of a mystery, but it came when one of the women said something. It was a fist fight without the usual hair pulling and vulgar language which most women fighters use.

It probably originated from a juvenile hearing in the office of the county judge whose door was locked -- and remained locked for the duration.

It was about the only interesting event the Whittle Club members witnessed during the entire week.

Time to register for Teen Conference

With summer just around the corner, it is time for Kentucky 4-H teens to register for the 2012 Kentucky 4-H Teen Conference.

The conference takes place at the University of Kentucky June 11-14 and is open to all 4-H'ers eighth grade through the age of 18.

During the conference, 4-H members have the opportunity to experience dorm life in UK residence halls, attend educational and recreational workshops and meet new friends from across the state.

The conference kicks off Monday with a picnic and a chance to meet the 4-H members who are candidates campaigning for a State 4-H Office. Entertainment escalates into the evening with a keynote address from motivational speaker Grant Baldwin. Grant is an engaging speaker who helps give youth a "Reality Check" using his book of the same name. All participants at this year's conference will receive a free copy of the book.

Different tracks and workshops centered on topics of interest are the week's main focus. The tracks are two-day educational classes focusing on subject matter from the Kentucky 4-H core project areas. One-session workshops emphasize fun activities, crafts and basic skill building.

Each night features a program highlighting 4-H involvement. A mainstay event at Teen Conference is the Fashion Revue. Youths who have completed a fashion project and won at their district shows work all week preparing for 4-H Fashion Revue on Wednesday night. During the revue, a number of music and variety acts will showcase 4-H talent. The election of state

4-H officers also takes place on Wednesday.

Staff from UK and the Kentucky Department of Education will offer information about attending a college or university, applying for scholarships and being successful away from home.

Throughout the week, 4-Hers develop leadership and citizenship skills, become acquainted with the land grant university and meet new people. The Kentucky 4-H Teen Conference is planned by the Kentucky State 4-H Teen Council, the state 4-H office and county extension agents. Participation from keynote celebrities is made possible through the Kentucky Soybean Foundation. The cost of the conference is $160 and is due with registration papers to the Casey County Extension Office by May 8.

For more information on the Kentucky 4-H Teen Conference, contact the Casey County Cooperative Extension Service at 787-7384.

Casey trackers off to good start

The running Rebels traveled to two meets last week: an all-comers meet at Mercer County last Tuesday and the annual Lake Cumberland Classic Invitation hosted by Somerset Saturday.

Lake Cumberland Classic

The Lady Rebels earned the runner-up title among the 13 teams who competed at the Lake Cumberland Classic. The team captured a total of three first place victories at the meet, but scored points in 14.

“I’ve got about six girls I could put in the 4x100 and still win,” said Head Coach Matt Willoughby. “I’m trying to figure out how I could place people to best utilize (them).”

Kaitlyn Carmicle earned the only individual first in a running event with her 17.42 finish in the 100M hurdles.

Carmicle was joined by Laura Parris, Tiara Cochran and Shelby Stringer for the 4x100M relay. The team’s time of 54.2 won the event.

“She’s better this year than she was last year,” said Willoughby about Carmicle. “She’s super fast and she’s just all around good. She was that way last year but not as dominant.”

Carmicle also contributed team points with her third place finish in the 100M dash and running a leg in the 4x200M relay, which took second. She was again joined by Stringer and Parris while Lakken Miller rounded out the relay.

Casey’s third gold medal came from the field. Stringer cleared 8’0” in the pole vault to win the event. Teammate Nicole Nagy finished just behind Stringer, clearing 7’9” to take second.

“Both of my high jump girls are better than they performed Saturday,” said Willoughby.

Allison Dallmon and Miller captured second and third in the high jump, each clearing 4’6”.

Abby Meece took second and third in the shot put and discus respectively.

Micah Smith continues to be the heavy point scorer for the boys’ team. Smith earned third in the high jump, clearing 5’10”.

Smith’s pole vault performance bettered his high jump showing. He cleared 10’6” to earn second place.

Blake Durham ran in the freshman mile run and finished third, improving his time to 5:13.

Mercer County All-Comers

Despite having athletes absent due to spring break, the Rebels showed well at Mercer County last Tuesday. The girls finished second among seven teams and the boys took fifth of eight teams.

Carmicle and Miller each contributed to two first place

Allison Dallman won the high jump at a Mercer County all-comers meet, clearing 4’8”. She also finished second in the event at the Lake Cumberland Classic Invitation.

Smith again took top spots in his two dominant sports. He won the pole vault with 8’6” and took second in high jump, clearing 5’6”.

Tennis teams beat Somerset; prepare for busy week

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

The Casey County tennis teams laid low from competition last week. Neither team competed and only held practices during the school’s spring break week.

Their break ended Monday against Somerset and both teams have returned to a week of heavy competition.

Boys

The Rebels faced the Somerset Briar Jumpers for the second time this season. After winning their first match 7-2, Casey bettered their victory to 8-1.

The team’s sole loss came in the number one seed. Ryan Martin fell in a close match to Reza Katabaf, 9-7. Martin previously defeated Katabaf 8-6 earlier this month.

Rising to the challenge, though, were Taylor Leigh and the third seed doubles team.

Leigh was previously defeated by Briar Jumper Ryan Weddle, 6-8, but turned the tables to win 8-6.

Luke Salyers and Justin Underwood teamed up in the third seed doubles position to take on a team that trumped them 8-4 previously. The duo dominated the match with an 8-2 victory.

“We’ve got a big heavy week coming up,” said Coach Philip Williams about this week’s play, which consists of a five matches between last Monday and this Saturday.

“We’re going to go out and try not to think so much about winning and losing,” said Williams. “We’re excited about playing and pulling together.”

The team hosted Boyle County last night and will face Garrard County tomorrow.

Girls

The Lady Rebels defeated the Somerset Briar Jumpers for the second time this season with nearly as much ease as the first time.

Casey’s toughest matches came in the one and two seeds.

Tylyn Leigh trumped her opponent, something she has done flawlessly this season, but Somerset did not go down without a fight. Kelby Cowan battled Leigh through the first set and fell by only two, 7-5. Leigh dominated the second set to earn the point, 6-2.

Casey gave up only one point in the match. Number two singles seed, Taylor Monday, was defeated by Sravya Veligandla, 6-1.

“We’re getting little bit better. The competition has really helped us,” said Coach Jim Coffey.

The team traveled to Boyle County Tuesday and will host Berea Thursday.

Sara Coffman contributed to a highly contested doubles match against Somerset. She partnered with Chelsey Lynn to triumph 6-4.

Rebel baseball drops four games

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

The Rebel baseball team had a tough spring break week, experiencing four losses, bringing their record to 6-11.

The Rebels are 0-3 in the 47th District after falling to Rockcastle County (9-6, 2-1) Thursday, 3-0 and Pulaski County (11-8, 2-1) on Monday, 5-1.

“We got better with each game,” said Head Coach Greg Hammond of the Rebel’s district play. “I look for us to do better the second round.”

District games

Hammond was pleased with his team’s performance against the district’s top team Pulaski County, whom they faced on Monday.

“We hung right there with them. For a long time we held in there 2-1,” said Hammond.

Pulaski put two runs on the scoreboard in the first inning while Casey scored one in the third. A strong fifth inning from Pulaski sealed the win, 5-1, as both teams went scoreless the remainder of the game.

Casey and Rockcastle were both scoreless the first three innings of their match-up before Rockcastle earned a single run in the bottom of the fourth. Casey’s inability to score continued while the Rockets added two more in the fifth, trumping Casey 3-0.

Other games

Outside of district play, Casey also lost to Madison Southern (7-8) and Mercer County (12-5) last week, giving up 12 runs to each opponent.

“We actually had a good a good game against Mercer,” said Hammond. “Madison Southern, we just had a bad game. We just let that one slip away. We just weren’t ready to play.”

The Rebels played with Madison Southern through the first three innings. Both teams opened the game with a run and the score stood 1-1 until Casey took the lead by one at the top of the fourth.

Madison Southern responded with four runs to go ahead 5-2. Despite four more runs, Casey never closed the gap and the game ended 12-6.

Casey earned the first run in the Mercer County game on Friday at the top of the second. Mercer answered by scoring three runs in three consecutive innings. Casey fell 12-3.

“We’ve just got to focus on ourselves. Not as much what the opponent is doing or what their strengths are,” said Hammond, noting the Rebels’ improved defensive play last week.

The Rebels charge through another heavy week of play and will reface their district foes. The team will travel to Somerset Thursday and Rockcastle County on Monday. Casey will also compete in the Central Hardin Wooden Bat Classic this weekend.

Tyler Hayes pitched a complete game against Rockcastle County last week, giving up only four hits. The Rebels lost 3-0 and are 0-3 in the district.

Hunter Pierce contributed two wins to Casey’s victory over Somerset. He won 8-5 in singles and partnered with Taylor Leigh in doubles to win 8-6.

The Lady Rebel softball team continues to work for their first win of the season. The team took two district losses during their spring break week. They are currently 0-11 and 0-2 in the district.

"We are consistently working our weaknesses to get better as a team," said Head Coach Brook Shelton.

Casey traveled to Rockcastle County (6-11, 2-0) on Tuesday and fell 13-3 to the only undefeated team in the 47th District.

The Lady Rebels played Somerset (6-12, 1-1) slightly closer and lost 11-4.

"I feel that we made a few mistakes that cost us some runs against Somerset," said Shelton.

Casey completed its first round of district play yesterday (Tuesday) when they faced Pulaski County. They face Somerset again tomorrow and Rockcastle on Tuesday.

SPORTS TALK

Celebrating women in sports

Record-setting in the sports world never ceases and it's common to wonder when and if it ever will.

Then you wonder, are today's athletes really better than those from 50 years ago, or have they been given better means to reach their achievements?

But the real mystery on my mind is what phenomenal female athletes were out there before their time.

It's my grandmother's level of interest in sports that causes me to wonder. Closing in on 90, it's not uncommon for me to wander into her home and see her checking out ESPN. I think her credibility of sports knowledge was proven when she selected the NCAA Final Four flawlessly — something most of us, including myself, didn't do.

Beyond just keeping up with the Reds and her Cubbies as well as college football and basketball, I see her fascination with women's athletics continue to grow. For most of us, since it's not in the limelight, we only catch highlights from time to time about high achieving women.

Grammo, as we call her, was just as, if not more, tuned into the Women's NCAA Final Four as she was the men's. I can't tell you the number of times she's gone on about her love of watching Brittney Griner of Baylor, who had 26 points, 13 rebounds and five blocks in their championship win over Notre Dame.

Rita "Peat" HARRIS
Sports Correspondent

Another night I walked in and she was glued to college softball.

Basketball and softball were both sports my grandmother played to the extent she was allowed in her youth. You can see the awe her face when she watches these women, knowing where it's come in the span of her lifetime.

We will never know some of the gems that could have existed 50 to 100 years ago in the women's sports arena. I can't help but watch "A League of Their Own," though, and imagine my Grammo playing with Geena Davis, Madonna and Rosie. No matter what her skill level may have been, her love of the games is uncontested!

Casey County Schools would like to say "thank you to our volunteers!"

Sixteen heifers given for I Love Cows contest

Horton and Lee are Casey's winners

The 13th annual Dustin Worthington "I Love Cows" essay contest awards ceremony was held April 4 at the Mercer County Extension Office.

This year's ceremony saw 16 heifers given away to students who participated in the contest.

The contest is open to all FFA and 4-H members interested in the cattle industry in Kentucky. Youth from Breckenridge, Casey, Lincoln, Marion, Mason, Meade, Mercer, Nelson, McLean and Taylor counties were eligible.

The award was established in 2000 after the death of Dustin Worthington, a Mercer County teen who was involved in the cattle industry. Worthington was killed in an auto accident and each year the contest is held in his memory.

The program encourages but does not require youth to participate in a "chain program," where the first born heifer is donated back to the program.

Some of the past winners have volunteered to donate their first heifer back to the program to the fund for future winners. To date, 55 past winners have donated animals back to the program.

Casey County's winners were Chad Horton and Madison Lee. Their heifers were donated by Ryan White and Kyler Hines, both 2010 winners.

Farms or individuals interested in donating a heifer of any beef breed can contact Dennis Worthington at 859-734-7533.

Chad Horton and Madison Lee were the recipients of heifers awarded to students who participated in the 13th annual Dustin Worthington "I Love Cows" Essay Contest. Both are members of the FFA organization at Casey County High School and were accompanied to the ceremony by Advisor Brent Ware.

Gardening, food preservation education opportunities coming up

A square foot gardening class will be held Monday, April 30 at 10 a.m. at the Casey County Extension education building. The class is free and open to the public.

If you wish to purchase a kit, the cost is $30 (checks made payable to Beth Wilson). The kit includes everything you need to assemble a 4x4 square foot garden (boards, screws, etc.) and a large bag of vermiculite. First 10, first served for kits. Registration deadline is April 25.

Gardening in raised beds or square foot gardens can be easier to work in; plants may have greater yields, and takes up much less space than traditional row gardens. Gas-powered equipment can be left in the shed. The all new Square Foot Gardening book by Mel Bartholomew is just one way to have a raised bed and this will be covered in the class.

Contact the extension office at 787-7384 for more information and registration.

Boot Camp

Debbie SHEPHERD
County Extension Agent for Home Economics

A Food Preservation Boot Camp will be held Tuesday, May 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the extension education building. Registration fee is $20 and the deadline is May 17. Class size is limited.

The number one reason to can, dry or freeze food is to preserve produce from the garden. Preserving garden fresh produce allows the preserver to control the amount of flavor, preservatives, pesticides, and allergens in food. Personal satisfaction, gift giving, and even economic considerations are other good reasons to preserve food.

The Boot Camp will cover: drying foods, knife skills, basic food preservation safety skills, canning techniques and freezing techniques. We will do hands-on pressure canning.

Registration fee includes lunch, all materials, Blue Ball book, freebies, hands-on learning environment. You will also take home jars of food you have preserved.

Contact the extension office at 787-7384 for more information and registration brochure.

Strawberry season

What delicious Kentucky Proud fruit is the most popular crowd favorite? From late April to July, fresh strawberries certainly could be the most delightful winner! Kentucky strawberries always deliver satisfying flavor, whether it's found in scrumptious strawberry pie, luscious strawberry preserves, or a yummy fresh berry snack. Not only do they have mouth-watering appeal, but strawberries provide great healthy benefits. Weight watchers can enjoy the fact that a ½ cup serving of sliced berries has only 25 calories. Of all berries, strawberries are highest in vitamin C, with a ½ cup serving providing 80 percent of recommended daily values.

When selecting berries at your Farmer's Market or grocery, stay away from containers of berries with juice stains which may be a sign that the berries are crushed and possibly moldy; soft, watery fruit that means the berries are over-ripe; dehydrated, wrinkled fruit that means the berries have been stored too long. Strawberries should be a bright shade of red and the caps on the berries should be green and fresh looking. Berries that are green or yellow are unripe and will taste sour. In general, berries should be dry, firm, well shaped, and eaten within a week after purchase. If you can't eat them that soon, remember that berries freeze well! It's best to buy berries that are 'in-season' as they'll cost less and are more ripe and flavorful than 'out-of-season' berries.

After purchasing berries, check the fruit and toss out any moldy or deformed berries. Eat overripe berries within 24 hours. Return the other berries back to the original container or they should be arranged unwashed in a shallow pan lined with paper towels, and washed just prior to use. The berries may be topped with a paper towel to absorb any additional moisture. Put plastic wrap over the entire container. This will ensure the fruit retains its freshness.

Strawberries are a great snack, especially in unusual combinations with other popular Kentucky fruits and vegetables. This unique salsa recipe combines the sweet tart tastes of ripe strawberries with salad tomatoes, such as cherry or grape varieties, and adds color and extra kick with fresh green onions and cilantro. Don't be afraid to try it — with yummy chips or pita crackers or even as a topper for fresh salad greens. You'll get a cool, clean and refreshing taste that's sure to become a family favorite!

Strawberry Salsa

1 tablespoon olive oil
2 tablespoons white vinegar or white balsamic vinegar

½ teaspoon salt
2 cups, coarsely chopped fresh strawberries
8 green onions, chopped
2 cups chopped cherry or grape tomatoes
½ cup chopped fresh cilantro

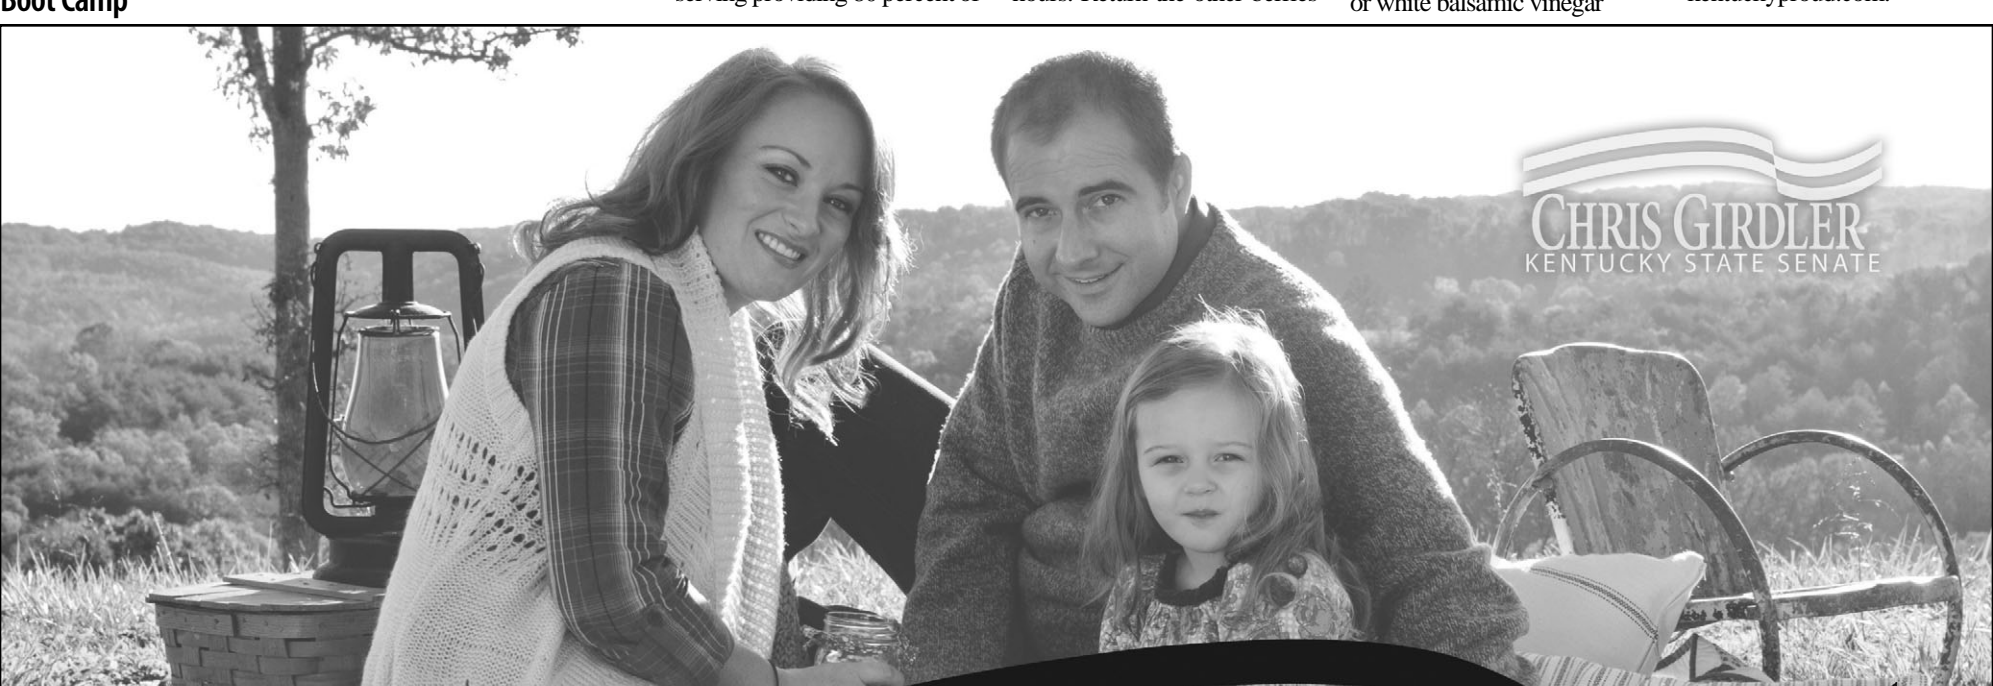

Directions

Whisk olive oil, vinegar and salt in large bowl. Add strawberries, green onions, tomatoes and cilantro and toss to coat. Cover and chill for 1 hour. Serve with tortilla or pita chips. Yield: 7, ½ cup servings.

Budget

$3,500 more than last year's budget estimate of $75,000.

Last year's projected income was $132,500 which included $45,000 in concession stand sales. Total income for FY13 is projected at $98,500.

However, the Ag Center Advisory Board has since leased the concession sales to outside vendors, thus eliminating about $35,000 in income against $23,000 in salaries for concession stand employees.

Thus, concession stand sales are projected to be $10,000 in the new budget.

Total expenditures for the center are projected at $156,080. Other expenses for the center are $26,500 for the director's salary, $16,500 for a groundskeeper and maintenance worker.

Utilities and repairs account for another $95,000, up $15,000 over FY12.

General fund

The FY13 budget shows that the bulk of the projected revenue for the general fund will come from the insurance premium tax at $670,000.

Real estate taxes are estimated to bring in another $300,000, while reimbursements from the Administrative Office of the Courts total $230,000, the same as last year.

Vaughn said that the AOC estimates the amount based on the prior year's expenses.

With $1.95 million projected in revenue, the county estimates a $120,000 carryover from FY12, bringing the total to just under $2.1 million.

In expenditures, salaries account for the majority of the budget.

The judge/executive's salary — set by the state — is budgeted at $81,916, an increase of 6 percent over last year's salary of $77,242.

Salaries for the four magistrates are $58,000, or $14,500 each, an increase of $125 from last year.

Magistrates also receive another $6,250 for training incentives, up $750 from last year.

The judge/executive's secretaries' salaries are $63,300, up $1,550 from the previous year; county attorney, $19,750; county attorney's secretaries, $47,000; sheriff's deputies, $78,000; county coroner, $8,300; DEM Coordinator, $18,750; dog warden, $11,500; and solid waste coordinator, $22,000.

All county employees were given a 2 percent cost-of-living raise on Feb. 6, which was retroactive to the first Monday in January.

Also within the general fund is $199,900 for Gateway Park — an increase of $151,350.

However, $100,000 of that figure is from a federal grant and renewals and repairs constitute another $60,000.

The park janitor's salary is $18,750, while the park secretary earns $7,550.

Jail, road funds

The Casey County Detention Center is projected to have more funds to expend due to an increase of Class D felony prisoners.

The bulk of its $3.7 million budget — up about $233,000 from last year — will still come from the state for housing Class D felony and intercounty prisoner contracts, which is projected to bring in $2.77 million.

Expenses show Jailer Tommy Miller's salary — also set by the state — at $81,916.99, a 6 percent raise from last year's budget. Miller received a 1.29 percent raise the previous year.

Salaries for the jail staff are $1,000,000, compared to $900,000 last year.

Other large expenses show $380,000 for medical, $280,000 for food, and $170,000 for utilities.

The jail also has an annual payment on bonds and interest of $648,516.

The county's road department draws the majority of its income from the county's road aid program, estimated at $1.4 million. Another $189,107 will come from truck licenses while the remainder will come from the state Transportation Cabinet.

Expenditures show $34,000 for the road foreman's salary, with $22,500 for the road supervisor's secretary's salary — a $500 cut for each position.

Road worker's salaries have increased $10,000 to $295,000 while an additional $65,000 — up to $280,000 — is being allocated for crushed stone.

Other funds

The E-911 fund is projected to receive $230,000 from 911 telephone fees, up $5,000 from FY12.

The budget also anticipates transferring $50,000 to the account from the general fund and a prior year carryover of $10,000.

"The PSC looks at Liberty's application, looks at other evidence and then weighs the evidence as to why that rate increase is necessary," he said.

Still, even if the proposed rate hike suspension could last almost one-and-a-half years, city residents will have to pay the increase in water, sewer, and garbage rates which adds about $4.30 a month to their bills.

Negotiations

Sweeney said Friday that he is in negotiations with Casey County Judge/Executive Ronald Wright about resolving the issue.

"I talked with the judge this morning and hopefully we'll be able to work things out without the PSC mediating," Sweeney said.

Nobody wants to raise the rates but I hope we can come to an agreement that they're not going to object to raising the rates," he said.

Greynolds said that he's unaware of any talks about the rate increase with the city.

Also, Greynolds said that he received a letter from the PSC asking that representatives from the ECCWD and the city meet in Frankfort on April 26 to try and reach an agreement.

But in the end, Sweeney said that it'll get worked out to everyone's satisfaction because it involves all residents of the county.

"We want nothing but good relations with the county," Sweeney said.

The majority of E-911's expenses show $125,000 for salaries — up $1,000 from last year — with another $80,000 in service fees.

The LGEA (Local Government Economic Assistance) fund projects $22,500 in mineral taxes to go along with a $75,000 carryover. Economic Development will receive $25,000.

SEVERE WEATHER

Severe weather can cause power outages at any time. We can't control the weather, but we can help you be prepared!

- If your electric service is interrupted, call 1-866-224-2235.
- Keep a battery-powered radio & flashlights available, along with batteries.
- Store drinking water, canned /no-cook food and a non-electric can opener.
- Have a first-aid kit and needed medications available.
- Switch off lights and appliances to prevent circuit overload.
- And treat all downed or dangling wires as if they are energized. Stay away, warn others and call Inter-County Energy to report the location.

Being prepared.
It saves lives.

HOROSCOPES

CAPRICORN

December 22-January 19

Capricorn, with so much change in the air, you may want to shout it from the hills. However, it may be wise to keep things hush-hush for a while until it's all worked out.

TAURUS

April 20-May 20

Taurus, you're in good spirits this week and it could be because you received some good news that provides you with extra energy. Get tasks done and then have fun.

VIRGO

August 23-September 22

Virgo, when an opportunity presents itself, jump on it without delay. This could be the break you're looking for, so don't pass up the opportunity to get on board.

GEMINI

May 21-June 21

Gemini, it may be time for a change of scenery, especially if you feel like you need recharging. Browse available travel deals and you can probably find something affordable.

LIBRA

September 23-October 22

Libra, pick your battles and recognize that there are certain things that you just can't change. It may prove frustrating, but that's the way it is.

SCORPIO

October 23-November 21

Scorpio, sometimes the best way to help someone is to leave them to their own devices. This week you'll adopt this approach, and it will work out for the best.

SAGITTARIUS

November 22-December 21

Sagittarius, there is conflict at home, you must help reduce the tension. It may take some time, but use this week to lay the ground work.

PISCES

February 19-March 20

Pisces, positive thinking can often help you overcome obstacles, but so can simply taking some action. Expect good news this week.

ARIES

March 21-April 19

Aries, once you have your mind set on something, it is hard to get you to think about anything else. This dedication can be an asset at work but might also hinder relationships.

LEO

July 23-August 22

Leo, though you often enjoy being the center of attention, there are many times -- like this week -- when you simply thrive being able to recuperate out of the limelight.

JAMOS FUND I, LP VS.
MICHAEL DARRELL BERNARD; UNKNOWN SPOUSE OF
MICHAEL DARRELL BERNARD; THE CASEY COUNTY BANK;
LIEN SOLUTIONS, LLC; and CASEY COUNTY KENTUCKY

PLAINTIFF
NOTICE OF COMMISSIONER'S SALE
DEFENDANTS

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale entered on March 12, 2012, by the Casey Circuit Court this action, the undersigned will sell to the highest and best bidder at public auction the following described real property located in Casey County, Kentucky:

LOCATION: A certain tract or parcel of land lying located in Casey County, Commonwealth of Kentucky, and being more accurately described as follows:
DESCRIPTION: Beginning at a whiteoak; thence North 67-1/2 West 2 rods to center of road; thence with road South 48 West 8-1/5 rods; South 54 West 2 rods; thence leaving the road South 67 East 32 rods to a stake; thence North 21 East 11 rods and 4 links to a stake in old line; thence with old line North 73-1/2 West 25-3/5 rods to the beginning, containing 2 acres, more or less, said description being pursuant to a survey conducted on March 3, 1979, by E. T. Cooper, Registered Land Surveyor No. 1144.
SOURCE OF TITLE: Being the same property conveyed from Ashley Sue Bernard, et al., to Michael Darrell Bernard by deed dated June 18, 2003, of record in Deed Book 222, Page 104, in the Casey County Court Clerk's Office.

DATE OF SALE: Saturday, April 21, 2012, at 11:15 a.m.
PLACE OF SALE: Casey County Courthouse, Liberty, Kentucky.

The property will be sold to the highest and best bidder(s) on terms of full cash on date of sale, or upon credit of thirty (30) days and the purchaser(s) shall be required to execute a bond WITH A GOOD AND SUFFICIENT SURETY THEREON for the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of 12% per annum from date of sale until paid, and the bond shall have the same force and effect as a Judgment and shall remain and be a lien on the real property until fully paid. The purchaser(s) may pay the purchase price money bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The property shall otherwise be sold free and clear of any right, title and interest of all parties to the action and of their liens and encumbrances thereon except easements and restrictions of record in the Casey County Court Clerk's Office, Liberty, Kentucky, and any right of redemption which may exist in favor of the Defendants. All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of the sale. The purchaser(s) shall be responsible for the 2012 ad valorem taxes.

Possession will be given to the purchaser(s) with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser(s) will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy a judgment in the sum of $24,409.95 plus interest at the rate of $4.38 per diem from August 3, 2011, until paid; plus attorney fees, court costs, delinquent taxes, and other approved expenses.

POLICE NEWS

Five arrested on drug charges

Clinton Dean Smith, 26, of 2215 Sims Branch, Kings Mountain, was arrested on April 9 by Deputy Dennis Allen at the sheriff's office and charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, court records state. Smith was in charge of a residence where meth was being made.

■ Edna "Sissy" Calhoun, 48, of 58 Hustonville St., Liberty, was cited on April 6 by Chief Steven Garrett at 58 Hustonville St. for possession of marijuana. The citation states that Calhoun was in an apartment with a marijuana joint within arm's reach of where she was sitting.

■ Colt Sagracy, 27, of 3415 Contown Road, Liberty, was cited on Saturday at his residence by Deputy Chad Weddle for marijuana cultivation, less than five plants. Court records state that Weddle found four marijuana plants behind Sagracy's residence in a fence row.

■ James Kevin Luttrell, 46, and Donita Louise Luttrell, 45, of 7562 Ky. 501, Liberty, were arrested on Saturday by Deputies Dennis Allen, Jamie Walters and Freeman Luttrell and charged with manufacturing meth. The citation states that authorities found a one-step lab in addition to ingredients for making meth.

Three men charged with assault

Tim McDonald, 51, of 793 Merritt Ridge Road, Windsor, was arrested by Deputy Freeman Luttrell on Thursday at his residence and charged with fourth-degree assault, domestic violence, minor injury. The citation states that McDonald hit his wife in the mouth after she called him a name.

■ Brandon D. Earles, 21, of 658 Strong Branch Road, Liberty, was arrested on April 8 by Chief Steven Garrett at Broughton Hills Apartments and charged with fourth-degree assault, domestic violence, minor injury. Earles is accused of striking his wife on the left side of her neck.

Earles was also charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon when he had a tire tool concealed in his pants.

■ Jerry Cochran, 57, of 1056 Peyton Ridge Road, Liberty, was arrested by Deputy Chad Weddle on Saturday at Peyton Ridge Road and charged with fourth-degree assault. Cochran is accused of helping Kaleb Compton hit, kick, and choke Jerry Gibson on March 17.

Man accused of credit card fraud

Kelly D. Goode, 31, of Moxley Road, Liberty, was arrested on April 11 by Deputy Chad Weddle and charged with fraudulent use of credit cards over $100 and second-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Court records indicate that Goode was in possession of a stolen credit card and used the card on several different occasions without the owner's knowledge.

Goode is also accused of cashing a $75 check that belonged to someone else.

Pair charged with selling stolen metal

Jordan McAninch, 24, of 413 North Fourth St., Danville, and Jason D. Brummett, 26, of 410 B. North Fourth St., Danville, were arrested on Saturday by Deputy Chad Weddle and charged with receiving stolen property over $500.

Court records state that the men admitted to taking items valued at $3,600 from a Danville business and selling them to Cundiff Metals on April 6 for $466.

Man charged with taking firewood

Joey Henson, 40, of River Road, Danville, was arrested by Deputy Chad Weddle on Sunday at the sheriff's office and charged with theft by unlawful taking, over $500.

The arrest warrant states that from Jan. 23 to March 3, Henson took firewood valued at $1,500 from Gordon Rodgers.

Man charged with DUI

Bret A. Simpson, 51, of 318 Bob Godbey Road, Liberty, was arrested by Deputy Chad Weddle on Monday on Short Town Road.

Weddle stated that Simpson wrecked his car and admitted to drinking several beers.

Judge

■ Continued from front Weddle also was a history buff who had a knack for remembering dates and events.

"Judge Weddle loved history and sometimes in court he would ask, 'Today is Dec. 7, can anyone tell me what happened on that date?'" Roberts said.

And there was another belief that Minton, Wright, and Roberts shared about Weddle — his love for the people of Casey County.

"In the last conversation that I had with Judge Weddle where he told me he was going to resign, he told me how important his work was to him and how reluctant he was to give it up. He kept thinking he was going to get better,"

Minton said.

"I hate to lose dedicated people like Judge Weddle. It's a loss to the state and to the counties he served. And, he loved Casey County," Minton said.

A memorial service for Weddle was held on Monday. A complete obituary can be found on page 4.
